

Chapbook Italic

typefaces by Feòrag

The Chapbook family of typefaces is based on the type used in the 17th and 18th century equivalent of pulp literature. It includes regular and italic fonts, and a set of period dingbats.

Version 4 has OpenType features that work in applications that support them. The period ligatures can be inserted automatically by turning on Contextual Alternatives, and Stylistic Set ss01 inserts the long s where appropriate.

Here is a sample of what selecting these fantastic options does to your text.

Small caps have also been added. As the Italic upper case letters are not suitable for this, the italic small caps are based on the regular ones. There is also a basic Greek alphabet.

This archive contains the OTF versions of the font, which can be used on Classic MacOS, MacOS X, Linux and Windows. It includes the following files:

- About Chapbook OTF.pdf - this file.
- Chapbook-Regular.otf, Chapbook-Italic.otf and Chapbook-dingbats.otf - the font files In MacOS X, double click on these to see a preview. Click on the "Install Font" button to install. For earlier versions of Mac OS, these files should go in the 'Fonts' folder in the System Folder.

License and Notes

This typeface is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike License. To view a copy of this license, visit <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/2.0/> or send a letter to Creative Commons, 559 Nathan Abbott Way, Stanford, California 94305, USA.

Note that the license includes the provision "Any of these conditions can be waived if you get permission from the copyright holder". You already have my permission to use this font for commercial purposes, such as in a magazine or advertising, and do not need to ask (though a copy of whatever you used it for would be nice). If you wish to redistribute this font commercially, including on a website with paid advertising, you must still get my permission to do so and "you must make clear to others the license terms of this work".
